Coleman Grands Win League Opener

President Ed Corson of the Alberta-British Columbia - Montana Intermediate Hockey League officially opened the season Saturday night, November 28 here, and watched the Coleman Grands post a 6-5 win over the Great Falls Americans.

Grands and Americans tangled again Sunday afternoon with the home club again coming out on the top end of a 9-4 victory.

By virtue of their double victory over the Great Falls Club, Grands jumped into first place in the loop, two points up on both Lethbridge and Cranbrook, who split week-end series in Lethbridge.

Fred Churla popped home three markers for Grands in the Saturday meeting, including the winner at 18:45 of the final period. Playing coach Ted Kryczka, Julius Kryznowski and Tony Wevers added the others for the winners.

Sam Williamson duplicated the feat by Churla for the Americans with a hat trick with Dave Thompson and Cal Quan each adding one goal. In addition, Quan collected three assists.

Thirteen penalties were called in the contest, with the winners taking the trip to the sin-bin on seven occasions. The Great Falls club scored four of their five markers when they held the man advantage.

White Grands were able to push two markers by net-minder Gerry Sinclair with an American player in the penalty box.

Sinclair was lifted for an extra forward in the dying minutes of the game, but the Coleman club held them at bay.

Churla ran his total goal output to six in the Sunday game as he connected for a trio again; in the 9-4 victory, Kryznowski and Barry Fraser chipped in with two each, and Wevers and Paul Pilowich scoring once each.

Grands Drop Game To Lethbridge Native Sons

Coleman Grands, despite a terrific rally in the third period of a league game in the Coleman arena Thursday night, fell behind when Lethbridge Native Sons blinked the red light seven times to four times for Coleman.

During the third period Grands played the last two minutes with three men.

In the first period goals were tallied for Coleman by Ted Kryczka from Barry Fraser at 11:50; for Lethbridge by K. Melvin from R. Crellin at 11:00; for Lethbridge 4-11:40 by D. Stouffer from Melvin, and again for Lethbridge at 14:35 by Brooks from Bob Cox.

In the second period Lethbridge rang up another two when G. McKay scored on pass from C. Hughes at 6:30, and Crellin scored from Crellin at 8:35.

The third period saw McKay of Lethbridge score on a pass from Hughes at 6:20; Chabot of Lethbridge scored at 19:55 and then Fritz Churla rang up a lone goal for Coleman at 5:25. D. Stevenson from Richard Koentges scored at 12:50 and Koentges from Stevenson at 15:00.

Coleman Hunter Lost One and Half Days

Aldo Ferrari of Coleman, returned to his home on Wednesday, December 2nd, safe but tired and hungry after being lost for one and a half days while out on a hunting trip in the Spring Creek area north of Lundbreck.

Mr. Ferrari, hunting with two other friends, Bill Filowich and Steve Bacovsky, both of Coleman, left early Tuesday morning, and when they arrived in the zone they planned on hunting, they separated with an agreement that they would meet at a certain spot around 10 a.m.

Mr. Filowich and Mr. Bacovsky met at the designated spot and after some time had elapsed, Mr. Ferrari did not arrive and the two men began searching for him.

They searched until evening, and being unable to find him they returned to Blairmore, and reported the missing man to the RCMP Police who in turn contacted the Forestry officials of the Crows Nest Forest Reserve.

In short order, two RCMP constables and two Forestry personnel went out on an over-night search. On Wednesday morning the missing man, still lost, arrangements began to bring in a Forestry helicopter to assist in the search.

In the early afternoon Mr. Ferrari met another hunter who brought him into the A7 from where the Forestry and police were notified. Mr. Ferrari was uninjured, but was tired and hungry from his experience. Fortunately a warm Chinook was blowing in the area.

Coleman Couple Celebrate 25th Anniversary

A Coleman couple, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Vasek were pleasantly honoured last week when 150 friends and relatives gathered in the Elks hall in Coleman to mark the occasion of the Vaseks' 25th wedding anniversary.

The evening got underway when the couple were escorted to the head table by Mrs. Sofie Lapack and Nina Panek, while John Horak played the Wedding March.

Cousages were pinned on Mrs. Vasek by Sofie Lapack, and on Mr. Vasek by Mrs. Violet Wavrean.

A hot turkey banquet was then enjoyed, prepared and served by hostesses Violet Wavrean, Sofie Lapack, Freda Taje, Mary Vicien, Nina Panek, Mrs. Oswald, sr., Mary Unilowski and Mrs. Elizabeth Liska.

A three tiered wedding anniversary cake, baked and donated for the affair by Mary Unilowski, centered the head table.

Following the banquet, Mr. and Mrs. Vasek were called upon and were presented with an electric fry pan and a purse of money by Mrs. Sofie Lapack who congratulated the couple on behalf of the entire gathering.

Mrs. Vasek ably responded, expressing their thanks to the hostesses, their many friends and to all who had sent and given gifts. An evening of singing and dancing was then enjoyed. Following day, Mrs. Vasek acted as hostess at a "thank you" party for the hostesses who had taken charge of the banquet affair.

Mr. and Mrs. Vasek are both enjoying good health. They were married in Coleman Holy Ghost Catholic Church on September 22nd, 1934, and have lived in Coleman since. Mr. Vasek is an employee of the McGillivray mine of Coleman Collieries.

The couple have one son, F.O. David Vasek, now serving with the United States air force in Georgia, U. S. A.

They also have one granddaughter. Sponsors at their wedding in 1934 were Steve Lechocky and Mrs. Elizabeth Halsick, while best man was Steve Liska, and bridesmaid, Sofie Liska. The 25th anniversary party had to be postponed for one month due to Mrs. Vasek being a patient in the Crows Nest Pass Municipal Hospital.

All through history there have been physicians who suspected that tuberculosis was infectious, but until 1882 they had no proofs. That year Robert Koch, a German doctor, provided the proof by isolating the germ, which he named the tubercle bacillus.

Canada's 1959 Christmas Seal Sale opened on November 16.

CANADIAN CANCER SOCIETY HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

At the annual meeting of the Crows Nest Pass branch of the Canadian Cancer Society held in the Blairmore main school last week, president of the group, M. D. McEachern reported that the crusade for funds this year was disappointingly unsuccessful.

Collections this year were the lowest recorded for the past five years, as in 1955 the sum of $2616.95 was collected; in 1956, the sum of $1652.23 was collected and this year on an all-time low of $806.75 was realized. It was also pointed out that welfare expenditures here were also increasing as last year the costs were over $462.10 and this year they totalled $589.45.

The Crows Nest Pass branch operations for the year ending September 30, 1959, showed that a total of $589.45 had been spent on welfare in this area which included transportation of some 36 patients to clinics, $437.80; boarding and care of two patients, $52.80, and drugs and medication, $98.85, for four Pass patients.

In addition to the expenditures shown above, the divisional office in Calgary has provided considerable sums on behalf of the local branch for various costs including room, meals, drugs and transportation to and from clinics for one patient for a lengthy stay in Calgary; also drugs and medication have been sent direct to at least two patients in our area.

The Alberta division has also been very prompt and helpful in giving advice and assistance to the local group.

It was pointed out at the meeting that the education program had fallen short of expectations especially in the rural areas. Several film showings had been planned but because of weather conditions or conflicts in dates only one was held. Considerable literature was distributed partly through the school in connection with the poster campaign, through the Crusade canvassers and through the individual members.

It was reported that the poster competitions held in the Pass schools had been very successful as 65 students had submitted posters which were judged by Joe Lieskovsky of Blairmore, and a committee of teachers. Although none of the posters won provincial awards this year, a letter commending the students on their original ideas was received.

Votes of thanks were then extended to those organizations and persons who conducted or assisted with the Annual Cancer Crusade in the area. Canvasses were conducted at Hillcrest by Mrs. W. R. Brown, assisted by the members of the Pythian Sisters and Ladies of the Moose; at Bellevue by Frank Sack, assisted by a large and enthusiastic group of high school students; at Frank by Miss Marlene Chizek, a high school student, at Blairmore, the Elks Club, the Lions Club, the Board of Trade and a group of students under the supervision of Eric Price and William Jallie; at Coleman, by J. L. Owen assisted by several persons and organizations; at Beaver Mines by Mrs. J. Oczkowski and assistants; at Burmas, by Mrs. A. Wilke and assistants; at Cowley, and Lundbreck, by Peter Iwasuk and assistants, and at Maycroft, no direct canvass was made but instead letters were sent from the office soliciting donations from those persons whose names were submitted by Mrs. G. Heaton.

The newly organized committee will go all out this year with a view to boosting the funds of the annual campaign to the figure that will again put the Crows Nest Pass in the top bracket for supporting a worthy organization and project. More meetings will be held which commence as soon as delegates return from the annual convention being held in Edmonton on December 3rd, 4th and 5th.

Attending the provincial affair from this district will be Mrs. Phyllis Jones of Coleman, chairman of Welfare; Mrs. Helen Neddo, of Coleman, first vice-president, and alternate will be Mrs. William Brown of Hillcrest.

UKRAINIAN WEDDING
My young nephew married a lovely Ukrainian girl last week, and I attended the wedding and learned a lot.

Of course, I had known many Ukrainians before. I taught school once in a district that was almost entirely Ukrainian, and I liked them very much. They seem so alive; they work hard, play hard, love hard and hate hard.

I always think of them as the European Irish. I used to read translations of their poetry, sitting in my small room above the school house when I was lonesome for home. It was truly an experience. One could see the wheatfields and sense the suffering of a people in bondage passionately yearning for freedom — and reading it, I'd forget being lonesome and go visiting.

On those visits I would consume great quantities of helibooche and vodka. I remember, that's why the wedding was so wonderful to me. And why the singing of Ukrainian songs sounded so good in my ears.

Ukrainian weddings are wonderful. The bride and groom were given just about everything that a young couple could possibly need for their home; and on top of that the guests shelled out in hard cash a sum that seemed mighty big to us anglo-saxons who are relatively niggardly in that regard.

I confess that I had been somewhat cynical about all the fuss and planning and endless arrangements that seemed to be required for a wedding; but when it was over, I was impressed.

The boy and girl who marry in Ukrainian style have a good start. They know, for sure, that the knot has been tied and pulled tight. They know that relatives and friends wish them well — for that is proved in the generosity of the giving and in the gaiety of the celebration, and in the tears that are shed so copiously.

When I first knew Ukrainians, they were mostly very short of cash. Today, they are prosperous, but they know how to spend their money for the big important things. If they have a fault, it is in their pride — but that was a quality developed by necessity in a race plagued by oppressors.

Here, in an atmosphere of freedom, they have prospered. They have made their own way and on top of that have contributed tremendously towards the development of Canada. Further, they are likely to help keep Canada free — for they have known oppression and they hate it fervently.

GETTING THINGS DONE

I love my family — I think! These days, however, it is a hard thing to do. You see, they caught me in a very embarrassing position and they haven't let up on the giggles yet. It happened this way.

This is my busiest time of year. At the present moment, I have six important writing jobs to get done, plus some lesser ones, and nearly all of them require research.

On top of that, I am in the midst of arranging a debate with the Provincial Secretary of the CCF party in Alberta, who challenged me. Then, too, there is the business of getting Christmas card addresses straightened out, gifts bought and all the rest of it.

In short, I am snowed under.

For that reason, when I went home pooped the other night, I noticed a book on my book-shelf which I had often intended to read, but which now became a must, because it is called "How To Get Things Done", written by a psychologist and a lecturer in whom I have a lot of faith.

And if there is anybody in Canada right now who needs to know how to get things done, it is I. So down came the book, and I sprawled on the chesterfield to read it.

In about half an hour my wife called out that supper was ready — to come and get it. Everyone scrambled to the table but me. A search was started, and Kathy — bless her heavenly little heart! — was the one to find me. You have guessed it.

I was sound asleep. Across my chest was the book. Kathy read the title "How To Get Things Done". Of course, she brought all the family in. When I woke up, there they stood in a semi-circle around me, giggling like hyenas.

Now, whenever there is a job to do they say "Ask Dad. He knows how to get things done... he's slept on the problem!"

They are a very witty group, my dear little family! I hope Santa gives them what they darn well deserve for this Christmas.

Youths' Personal Sacrifices

It is the wise parent who encourages his child to learn the meaning of self-sufficiency through learning to help himself. Happily, this has become a tradition of child training in most Canadian homes.

Numerous successful men and women in all walks of life have made an early start through selling newspapers, mowing lawns, baby-sitting, salvaging waste materials and similar projects familiar to all of us in our community.

The accomplishment of self-sufficiency is not without sacrifice on the part of the boy or girl when the "sacrifice" through gravitation is placed on him or her. Giving up the hockey game or high school tea dance for a lesson in self-help may seem to be worthwhile enough in itself. It is easy for us to rationalize that, the profits of our children's endeavor have been justly earned for their personal wants.

But in learning the lesson of self-sufficiency and self-reliance, the child may also have learned selfishness.

We are heartened to know that at least 1,304,662 Canadian youngsters of elementary and high school age are also learning the lesson of selflessness as well. They are members of the Junior Red Cross who thru 40,000 classroom branches, sacrifice their time and youthful pleasures for others.

Encouraged to make their own contributions through personal and co-operative efforts in the community, Junior Red Cross members last year raised $198,747 for their Handicapped and Crippled Children's Fund and an additional $49,521 towards their aid for International Help and Understanding.

Through their efforts and personal sacrifice they aided 2887 crippled or handicapped children in Canada and extended the hand of help to young victims of disaster or war in 25 countries.

In Alberta there are more than 63,000 Junior Red Cross members who are doing their part towards the alleviation of suffering and need. During this Junior Red Cross Week this newspaper commends them and their fellows throughout the land who, together, have helped so many.

The greatest sacrifice of all is the truly personal sacrifice — especially when one is young.

In Favor Of "Weeks"

Naturally, The Canadian Highway Safety Council, hopes that nobody — motorist or pedestrian — will kill anybody between December 1 and 7. The Council really hopes nobody will kill anybody anytime, but when it designates the first week of December as "Safe Driving Week" its chief target is the logic, the common sense of the people who drive and walk.

W. Arch Bryce, executive director of CHSC, repeatedly claims that 99 per cent of the accidents that occur on Canadian highways are the result of someone doing something he knew better than to do, or, in reverse, someone not doing something he knew he should have done. That, of course, is carelessness, usually the result of an apathy that could become fatal when coupled with a minimum of thought and effort. "Fatal" is a word purposely ignored by the careless, apathetic driver and walker. Scraped fenders, startled nervous systems, a dent here — a bruise there — they're possible. But death? Never!

How wrong can they be? An automobile moving slowly can kill; the chances of death are greater as the speed increases, and the odds grow as the carelessness of the person walking or driving grows.

So the Council sponsors "Safe Driving Week" each year with a firm hope that Canadians will stop killing each other for a few days, but a stronger hope, even an expectation, that Canadians will spend that week realizing fully that carelessness, apathy, stupidity, selfishness and recklessness on the streets and roads can reap a grim harvest.

If they can do it for a week, they can do it for another week and for 52 weeks if they want to. If They Want To!

Sales Record Smashed In Alberta Savings Bonds Series '59

Final Alberta Canada Savings Bonds Series '59 totals in Alberta topped the record breaker of '57. More people bought more bonds than ever before in the history of this province.

Over 60,000 Albertans now have a sizable interest in the Bank of Canada. In the last 25 days they have bought over 102 million dollars worth of Canada Savings Bonds Series '59. Record '57 sales limped at a relatively low 71 million.

The campaign's strong national momentum, noted six days ago by the Hon. Donald Fleming, Minister of Finance for Canada, not only continued in this province but ended with a bounce, according to final figures released today by the provincial Bank of Canada agent in Calgary. Further payroll deduction pledges still to be recorded are expected to swell this by several million.

Bond sales are cleared through the provincial Bank of Canada agent in three main classes - sales by banks, trust and investment houses, and organizers for deductible payroll savings). Of these the most dramatic were bank sales. Chartered Alberta banks were bowled over with a torrent of applications—a third more Albertans bought over twice the amount of the '58 series 43,482 persons took $82,500,000 worth compared with 35,000 who bought $41,000,000 worth in '58.

The general public also went to trust and loan companies and other savings institutions for another $15,500,000.

Non-commissionable payroll figures reached a record high in the Bank of Canada total - over four and a half million dollars.

Outstanding industrial groups were Esso's Imperial Oil production employees who topped the list with $288,000. B. A. Oil with $106,000 and Burns & Co. Ltd. with $66,000. City of Calgary civil servants took $267,000 and postal employees of the Alberta district Calgary office pledged $241,000.

Although final cross-Canada totals for the series '59 are not yet out, six days ago the prairie provinces led the five organized regions by 11.5 per cent in dollar amount according to the Hon. Fleming's statement.

Hospital Holds Fire Drill

Inspector J. H. Leyland of the Fire Commissioner's office in Lethbridge, visited the Crows Nest Pass Municipal Hospital Wednesday afternoon and watched a drill held and conducted by the hospital staff.

Mr. Leyland commended the staff on their efficiency and stated the drills were well organized. He felt everything at the hospital was up to par and with the building being of reinforced concrete, patients were well protected. After watching the drill Mr. Leyland made several suggestions on new methods of fire protection.

Purpose of the drill is to have each member of the hospital staff prepared and stationed in the event of a fire. Each of the staff have a certain job to do and each must know how to turn in an alarm, handle extinguishers which are located in many locations in the hospital. The staff are also acquainted with every phase of safety and are trained to evacuate the hospital if occasion ever arose.

Both Blairmore and Coleman Fire Brigades, which total some 42 firemen, are responsible for protecting the hospital in case of fire.

Premier E. C. Manning Endorses Campaign

Premier E. C. Manning has issued a statement endorsing support of the Christmas Seal Sale campaign, sponsored in Lethbridge by the Kinsmen Club of Lethbridge. Mr. Manning said "The work of the Alberta Tuberculosis Association and their committees throughout the province is recognized as being of tremendous value in the problem of tuberculosis control.

The fact that they are aided in their efforts by so many voluntary workers in organizing surveys and other phases of the program indicates a wide interest, and the results emphasize the fact that tuberculosis is still a serious health problem particularly in portions of the province where there are pools of infection known to exist. I am pleased to learn that the Association has still further expanded its program to concentrate on these areas. They are doing useful work and merit the support of the public."

The provincial objective for the Christmas Seal Sale campaign this year is $243,275 of which $24,500 has been allotted to Lethbridge and district. The sale of Christmas Seals is the only revenue available to the Association.

Contributions may be sent to the Kinsmen Club of Lethbridge, TB Seal Sale committee, Box 52, Lethbridge, Alberta.

Red Cross Offers To Take Enquiries

In accordance with statements from the National Executive of the Canadian Red Cross Society, Red Cross branches throughout Alberta, along with other provinces, will be willing to assist anyone requiring information about persons thought to be detained by authorities in Hungary.

Although word from Hungarian President Kadar to the International committee of Red Cross refutes charges that 150 Hungarian students are being held for execution for their part in the 1956 revolt, the International Red Cross committee will nevertheless be ready to transmit to Red Cross authorities in Hungary any individual enquiry received from parents of detainees.

Such enquiries will be handled by the Red Cross Enquiry Bureau, which provides assistance in locating families separated by war or other events beyond their control, and will be routed to the International committee of Red Cross in Switzerland then turned over to the Hungarian Red Cross for processing.

'Holiday Hazards' Grows To National Campaign

From its strong beginning as an effort of police forces everywhere in Canada, a campaign designed to combat the hazards of the holiday season has grown to national proportions.

Taken up by provincial safety organizations, with the co-operation of community safety councils, the "Holiday Hazards" drive runs thru December.

The campaign stresses the perils that greet the motorist and pedestrian during the gaiety and glitter of the Christmas and New Year periods. In its support, police are alerted and enforcement of traffic laws is strengthened across Canada. Publicity is sought and granted by all public information media on the menaces that seem to receive emphasis as the Yule season approaches.

During last Christmas the Lions Club presented approximately 100 Coleman youngsters with two gifts each, the second gift containing candy, nuts and oranges.
